Individual Paper Proposal

An individual paper presentation that, if accepted, will be grouped into a panel with other individual papers by the ICAS 12 Academic Selection Committee

- The ICAS 12 Academic Selection Committee will compile panels of 4–5 individual paper presenters. The time slot for a panel composed of individual papers is one hour and forty-five minutes. Please note that the ICAS 12 Academic Selection Committee will do its utmost to gather papers with the same theme together in a panel. In exceptional cases this might prove difficult.
- Our point of departure in programming the panels is that all participants are present for the duration of the meeting. Due to the large number of panels it is impossible to take individual programme requests concerning date and timing of presentations into account.
- Applicants are only allowed to submit one paper proposal. It is not permitted to submit two or more abstracts.
- The maximum number of words for a paper abstract is 250 words. No exceptions are possible. The abstract has to be included in the proposal form and cannot be sent separately. Please avoid the inclusion of diacritics or non-Roman characters.
- After submitting your proposal, a notification email will be sent to your email address informing you that the proposal has been successfully submitted. Please contact the ICAS 12 Secretariat at icas12@iias.nl in case you have not received this notification (please check your spam folder as well before contacting us).

Institutional/Organised/Strategic Roundtable Proposal

A full roundtable proposal focussed on discussion (no paper presentations)

1. Institutional roundtables

These are organised and/or sponsored by institutes/organizations/universities. We ask the convenor to submit the full roundtable proposal (roundtable abstract, participants details etc.). They are also required to include the contact details of each of the participants. As a token of appreciation for the institute's efforts, the institution will be acknowledged in the conference programme.

- A roundtable has 5-8 participants. The participants present briefly (max. 5 minutes) their take on a theme, and discuss it among themselves and with the people attending. The time slot for a roundtable is one hour and forty-five minutes. The roundtable format provides much more time for debate than a panel in which papers are presented.

2. Organised roundtables

These are roundtables that are submitted by a group of individual scholars (from different backgrounds, institutes, countries). Convenors of organised roundtables are asked to submit the full roundtable proposal (roundtable title, participants details etc.). They are also required to include the contact details of each of the participants.

3. Strategic roundtables

Strategic roundtables are collaborative strategic meetings, a format inspired by policy-focused gatherings used by urban planners. These roundtables are meant to discuss one (or a few) specific programmatic or strategic collaborative items, e.g. developing the outlines of a new collaborative project/proposal/curriculum/action plan, etc. There are no passive attendants, only active participants. It is recommended to produce a final outline, manifesto, or set of recommendations with the purpose of building a new momentum for future steps in collective action after the meeting. Given that the time slot imparted for a strategic roundtable is only one hour and forty-five minutes, it is recommended that a strategic roundtable consists of two consecutive sessions. In such a case, the first session can serve to primarily introduce all the participants and to discuss in general terms the topic/question of interest and the objective(s) to be reached. The second session could serve to develop a common statement or a series of recommendations.

- A strategic roundtable consists of 10–20 participants. We do not recommend individual presentation, powerpoints, or monologs during the strategic roundtable. The roundtable should be moderated by (preferably) two co-chairs who direct the discussions by making sure they are held in an orderly, inclusive and truly interactive manner. Co-chairs should make sure that no one monopolizes the discussion time. It is advised that one of the two co-chairs takes note of the content of the discussions while the other orientates and facilitates them. At regular intervals, the co-chairs should try to summarize the incremental development of the discussion into interims.
- Two time slots are reserved for a strategic roundtable: three hours and thirty minutes (a minimum of 10 participants is required). Please submit the strategic roundtable in one form.

For all roundtables:

- We only accept complete roundtable proposals. The roundtable proposal should be submitted by the convenor. Please make sure that you have gathered the details of all participants before you start filling in the form.
- Our point of departure in programming the panels and roundtables is that all participants are present for the duration of the meeting. Due to the large number of panels it is impossible to take individual programme requests concerning date and timing of presentations into account.
- The maximum number of words for a roundtable abstract is max. 400 words. No exceptions are possible. The abstract has to be included in the proposal form and cannot be sent separately. Please avoid the inclusion of diacritics or non-Roman characters.
- After submitting your proposal, a notification email will be sent to your email address informing you that the proposal has been successfully submitted. Please contact the ICAS 12 Secretariat at icas12@iias.nl in case you have not received this notification (please check your spam folder as well before contacting us).
