

Posters Presentations

Poster Presentations are informal discussions among meeting attendees about current trends in Urgent Care practice. Poster presentations provide an excellent opportunity to pick up ideas that have been successful in other healthcare systems.

Poster abstracts are classified as one the following:

- D = Descriptive Reports: Describes new, improved or innovative services in Urgent Care. Descriptive reports must contain detailed rationale of the project or case, and the importance of the report to Urgent Care.
- E = Evaluative Study Reports: Describes original research, including clinical research on drug effects in humans, drug-use evaluations, and evaluations of innovative pharmacy services. Evaluative study reports must include scientific results and/or data to support the conclusions, and indicate that all clinical research represented in the abstract was approved by the appropriate ethics committee or institutional review board and, if appropriate, informed consent was obtained for all subjects.
- C = Case Reports: Describes unusual clinical cases in one or a few patients that have not been formally evaluated but are of such importance that they must be brought to the attention of practitioners. Case Reports do not need the headings Purpose, Methods, Results, or Conclusions but cannot be a research-in progress.
